

PRIVACY POLICY

We use cookies to guarantee the best experience on our website. If you keep using it, we consider you accept the use of cookies. Google Analytics: These cookies gather anonymous information about the way you use our website. Our goal is to improve our website and adapt it to the needs of the users. We don't collect personal Data. We store it for 12 months.

Data collection purpose

We know how much you care about your privacy, which is why we are concerned about it when you visit our website, and by all means we will guarantee your privacy while visiting it. We only collect personal Data you personally give us, such as your name, address, or phone number. The Data is used to provide you with the service or information that you requested.

People who have access to the Data

The personal Data you send us by filling the forms are stored in our files. Your Data are neither to be sold nor given to third parties. However, we reserve the right to use your personal Data or make it available to public should it be required by the law, if necessary to preserve our website's integrity, to accede to your request, to comply with legal proceedings or matter relating to public order.

Access rights and portability rights

You may request access to your Data at any time. You also have the right to rectify, change or erase your Data. You can also ask for a copy of your Data.

Complaint

In accordance with article 77 of the GDPR, you may also contact or file a complaint to the competent authority at the following address:

1000, Bruxelles – Rue de la presse, 35

Phone number : +32 2 274 48 00

Or by email at the following address:

commission@privacycommission.be

Or the control authority of your country of residence to exercise your right.